"Give us life or give us death!" says the Republican.

Why shouldn't Dr. Phil Roberts have the Lexington Locomotive Asylum?

The country will gradually come to find out that Democrats are not the only mortals who want office.

All the Republicans will get something from this Republican State administration - those who don't get office will get mud.

A mo, black bear has been killed in Powell county; the first one seen since John L. Helm, Democrat, was elected Governor in 1867.

The Cincinnati Democrat suggests that possibly the roadster, which did not show up this season, could be found in the bag cabin, as chickens have been found in cabins.

If the Republican Legislature doesn't take extreme grounds, the colored brother will howl, and if it does, the white brother will howl, so whether times are expected.

It has been rumored here for several days that Owen can't have done Democratic, and Bush Nelson's Ovation Herald contradicts the report by showing Harlan's plurality to be 1079.

Governor-elect, Dr. J. J. A. a great speech at the Atlanta Exposition on Kentucky Day that has been published all over the Union, and he is to utter the solid North and South South.

KEEP THE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

If the Republican House, with the aid of the Democratic Senate, will repeal the State Board of Equalization, the Democrats will feel that there is some good in Republicanism after all. By all means repeal the Board.

COULD NOT DO BETTER.

Young E. Allison, of Louisville, is mentioned in connection with the office of Insurance Commissioner. Auditor Stone could not make a better selection. He is thoroughly competent, and in no way objectionable, and deserves popular.

GOV. BROWN A LITTLE RED.

Gov. Brown does not like to be accused of voting the Republican ticket, and say he can "skip" any day that he may, in just three weeks from to-day, Gov. Brown will be the most luckiest back number in Kentucky, and nobody will care how he voted, nor when nor where.

THE EXACT FIGURES.

Governor Bradley is elected by 8912 votes. He received 72,430. Harlan 165,324. Perkins 16,911; Bennett, 4,186. No other Republican received as many as 10,000 votes. No Democrat besides Harlan received as many as 10,000. Bradley and Harlan each ran about 8000 ahead of his respective ticket. It therefore follows that Harlan ran about ten thousand votes with the Republican ticket, except Bradley, and that the Democratic ticket, except Harlan, ran about 8,000 behind the Republican ticket, omitting Bradley.

The voting was unusually fair. The Republican vote must have come out in greater number than in the State, while more Democrats stood at home.

WHAT DID IT IN KENTUCKY.

From careful observation and analysis of what has been said concerning the result in the recent election in the State, we are of the opinion that these were the causes of the great and glowing flap:

- Free silver.
- Sound money.
- Blackburn.
- Cleveland.
- Harlan.
- Carlisle.
- The Frankfort ring.
- Numerous local rings.
- The new constitution.
- Spauls system.
- Civil Service.
- Pure crossness.
- Lack of Democratic votes.
- Stay-at-home Democrats.
- Hard times.
- Boomer.
- What Grant said.
- Rule or ruin policy.
- Dick Tate.
- An empty treasury.
- Norman.
- Mason & Ford.
- The penitentiary.
- Democratic extravagance.
- Republican hunger.
- The world coming to an end?

AFTER BRONSTON'S SCALP.

The "big Injun" Republicans of Lexington and Fayette county are after the scalp of Hon. Charles J. Bronston, elected to the State Senate. The law requires that a man, holding an office in compatibility with the office of State Senator, must not only resign before election, but file a copy of his resignation with the County Clerk. Mr. Bronston held the office of commonwealth's attorney and tendered resignation to the Circuit Judge and was ordered to accept upon the order of the Circuit Court, but he failed to file it, and therefore in Handsomely illustrious, carelessness, then, beginning to end with a serve in the from the immense stock, promptly on application and in regard to

AN UNFORTUNATE AND UNPRECEDENTED RESIGNATION.

Ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives, Carroll, of Louisville, the only Democrat elected at the recent election in that city, resigned on last Friday immediately upon receiving his certificate of election.

In his statement to Governor or Brown he says that his Republican opponent, Shreve, waited until the last moment and then authorized the County Clerk to strike his (Shreve's) name from the list of candidates about to be certified to the printer to be printed upon the election ballots but failed to inform his Republican friends of his (Shreve's) action; that they did not know but what he (Shreve) was still a candidate with his name on the ticket, and in consequence the Republicans had no candidate, and he, Carroll, was elected without opposition. Carroll says that he had nothing to do with Shreve's action; that he, Carroll, was duly elected and is entitled to his seat in the Legislature so far as the law is concerned, but that he does not know whether he or a Republican would have been elected had he had opposition; therefore he resigns.

The Governor accepted the resignation, ordered a new election and Carroll is again a candidate.

Were the Legislature practically one party, as heretofore it has been, Carroll's action would be of no moment whatever, but with a tie on joint ballot, and a C. F. Senator to elect, his resignation is a misfortune to the Democratic party. He was clearly, honorably and in every way duly elected, Carroll ought not to have jeopardized the party's interests by such ridiculous, useless and senseless action. A gigantic struggle is now precipitated upon his constituents. If he wins he and they will only be where they were before he resigned. If he loses not only a Democratic representative is lost out probably a United States Senator. There is no precedent under the sun for such action, notwithstanding there have been many similar occurrences in election times.

Once upon a time a lot of fellows, so the story goes, were walking along the bank of a river. They saw something in the river that they wanted. The only way to reach it was to walk out on an overhanging limb, one of these to swing down, leading to the limb, another to climb down him and swing off, leading to the first man's feet and so on until a human chain should be formed to reach the water. When all were thus suspended the man held of the limb cried: "Hold fast down below till I get in my hands," and at once let go, whereupon all were precipitated into the water. That man must have been Carroll. His resignation was just as wise as the letting go of the man held of the limb. He no doubt will have a hard fight, and if so much did not depend upon his success, we'd hope for his defeat.

But some Republicans say that there is a risk in the account of what the public has not learned; that Carroll's action would have been questioned, and for a certain violation of law he would have been sealed. We are afraid it is that or even worse. There is something crooked in the case.

CORRESPONDENCE.

REIDMAN.

Last week it was announced that Wm. Motley had sold out and started for Oklahoma. He went to Louisville, returned home on Saturday night. Monday at noon the community was shocked to learn that he had shot himself three times with the intent of suicide. He lived until 4 o'clock Tuesday morning, when he departed this life. Whiskey, as the remote cause of the deed. Still the men better their souls for the infamous stuff.

Mrs. Millie Sanders is quite ill at her home with a gripe.

Mr. Jessie Newby, Sr., is quite low with pneumonia.

The schools in this locality celebrated Arbor Day very appropriately.

This is a decidedly Republican district - therefore a decidedly happy one. The Democratic spirit cannot wiggle in the latitude with the local Republican spirit. I will respond to Ky. Bill's latest outdoor flash by simply iterating one of his own bright sparks, i. e. "Seat and keep quiet."

Miss Lizzie Duncan who lives with Mr. George Terrill in Fayette county is spending a week with her parents near here.

PANOLA.

"Oh, put me in my little bed!" Wasn't it a Waterloo?

"Our Ham" (Smith) helped jolly Wednesday night, shutting his eyes, grating his teeth and yelling like a Cannibal.

A good Republican was looking at a paper called "Comfort" Wednesday morning, when a Democrat said, "we all want to subscribe for that now."

A Republican said to the wife of a Democrat: "Tell your husband I'll be over to sit up with him tonight," and the reply came, "try to keep your breeches on now," and on he went, a wiser, if not a happier man.

A Democrat, seeing a Republican laughing and talking, and having the appearance of a man caught upon the third heaven, and thinking such ecstasy might be dangerous, thought to check the upward flight by saying, "Now for Uncle Vete Watts, George Phelps and Harry Tuntall (all colored) for County Judge, Magistrate and Constable respectively."

The reply was exactly what all Democrats know - "We have plenty of white men we can run, we care nothing more for the negro than you do, only to vote him." Yet the poor colored brethren are persuaded that Republicans are going to give them "40 acres and a mule." Practically Democrats are much better friends to the negro than Republicans, but the colored man is easily gulled.

Now that the election is over, Republicans have had plenty of fun and Democrats have laughed what little they could "out of one corner of their mouths," let's all put our shoulders to the wheel, roll that Sunday school, and everything else that tends to build up Panola and our community generally.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

CLOTH COSTUMES, TRIMMINGS, VEILS.

Notwithstanding the fascinations of crepe or other equally beautiful materials, plain cloth costumes still have the adherents, and are always a safe expedient. Economy also is sometimes a consideration, as the waists are usually of cloth or a one other stylish fabric, which a remnant may be had at a very small cost, and the same waist may be used to equal advantage with a black skirt. A narrow fur band around a plain cloth skirt is a great addition, but not obligatory, and cashmere bands or a little colored patterned ribbon on the waist are all that is necessary. Colored pelermettes are particularly beautiful, imitating the lovely palest of emeralds, rubies or other stones; and very expensive silk varieties have points finished off in small, flat curls.

Trifles of color take high rank, because new and colored velvet leaves on white satin bands, mixed with minute beads and sequins are often as high priced as $12 per yard. Exquisite collars made up of these many colored beads and sequins brighten up a black dress charmingly, and transparent gowns, embroidered with tiny beads, are often used over colored velvet or satin. Embroidered chiffon is in renewed favor, and broad and narrow bands with ruffles to match, make lovely evening accessories; the wide band being used down the front and the narrow one around the shoulder with a full ruffle all around.

Black velvet waists are very easily modeled by opening the front and putting in a fancy belt, and if desired, a very wide belt is admissible. Broad revers and an added blouse give a stylish air to any dress, with anything and a Persian or chine ribbon belt and collar, contrast beautifully with black velvet. Either black crepe or satin chine sleeves are appropriate with black velvet, and as matter of course skirt and sleeves should be in harmony. Rather long, light-fitting waists, with "cripple backs" are very attractive either as waists or outdoor garments, and when intended for the latter purpose and are of black velvet, a fur facing about eight inches deep, is an elegant finish. The special advantage of added bangs is, that odd pieces of velvet or pelermettes may be used, as this is a season when almost everything may be turned to account - old remnants of colored plaid or silk or fur fabric that have been lying by for years (particularly those in costume colors) which in lankwater and ivory soap, can look fresh and bright, affording fashionable material for a fancy front, or collar and belt.

Colors are combined with complete disregard for precedent, and a chine silk costume designed for the "Horse Show," has four or five colors in a large broad clasp on a white ground, a large blue velvet blouse and sleeves, with a pink velvet vest, covered with embroidered lace, and deep pink velvet cuffs, edged by white lace. A shirred pink velvet hat with a huge Rhine stone buckle and several blue ostrich plumes, completes the costume. Another dress for the "Horse Show" is of striped silk, with a blue and white design in jet at intervals over blue satin, the costume covered with jetted silk with the blue knot, and blue satin ribbon collar and bow on the shoulders.

Ladies have not resigned their huge sleeves, and those of heavy silk, evening sleeves, stand out at the sides, and are lined with a material intended to keep them out. Cuffs are again in favor, and are often slashed at the outer end, and with wide lace lashed cuffs, a very dressy effect is attained.

POSTPONEMENT OF THE MOTOCYCLE RACE.

(Scientific American.)

The motorcycle contest, which was to have occurred November 20, was postponed on November 1st at a meeting of the judges until Thanksgiving Day, on account of the plot of American manufacturers and inventors that they have not sufficient time to get their new vehicles ready.

There was, however, a race over the 12 mile course for a purse of $500, and the carriages which ran belonged to the Duryea Motor Wagon Company, Springfield, Mass.; Kaue & Pennington Company, Chicago, and the H. Mueller Manufacturing Company, Decatur, Ill.

The Mueller vehicle made the distance in 9 hours and 30 minutes; the Kaue and Pennington dropped out of the race, and the Duryea machine broke down.

The Duryea carriage is made by the Duryea Motor Wagon Company, of Springfield, Mass. The Duryea wagon weighs 700 pounds and is built for either two or four persons. It is driven by two pedals, and has a steering wheel, and both the gasoline and water can be supplied to the wagon in five minutes. The object of the tank of water is, of course, to prevent the motor from overheating. It runs backward or forward, with equal facility, and has four speeds, 5, 10, 20 and 30 miles an hour.

The Duryea machine is a very simple and easily governed, being steered and speeded by the same lever, being steered by a side wheel motion. It is provided by a powerful brake, and as its motors are wholly independent, one will propel the carriage even if accident affects the other. An electric spark excites the charge, the danger of explosion is reduced to a minimum.

Messrs. Thomas Kane & Company, of Chicago, entered four vehicles in the race. These are a four wheeled victoria with a seating capacity for two persons, a tandem motorcycle, and two motor cycles.

The makers have, in fact, gone back to the early days of Rome, when the low chariots were used by the nobility, as well as in warfare and in the races and public games. The victoria is such a type of vehicle and is constructed so that one can get on easily in and out and there is no liability of overturning. The wheels are so low that the best results are obtained from the motive power for speed and economy in running. 20 inch wheels and, with heavy steel spokes and 4 inch pneumatic tires. These tires are manufactured by the well known bicycle tire manufacturers, Morgan & Wright, and are non-puncturable. They are also attached mechanically to the rim, so that it is impossible to pull them off, as is the case with a glued tire.

The frame of the victoria is very novel in its construction and combines the strength and beauty of the latest models. It is constructed of steel tubing with graceful bends, giving it great strength and beauty of outline. The natural spring from the frame and pneumatic tires gives the engine the same effect as a pivoted compass, rendering no vibration or unevenness to the vehicle. There is a very ingenious device attached to the rear wheels, so that in turning a corner one wheel travels faster than the other and overcomes the difficulty which has always been experienced in motorcycle vehicles. The steering apparatus is very simple and effective, consisting of a single lever pivoted on ball bearings that they can be readily turned by the steering handles.

A very unique but effective brake is attached to the side of the vehicle. It consists of a pivoted rod held in place by a spring and actuated by being thrown as a friction against the ground.

The engine used in these carriages is the Pennington electrovalve engine, consisting simply of a steel tube, a piston and connecting rod, an inlet valve admitting the oil, with an outlet valve allowing the exhaust to escape, and a simple electric device for operating the engine. Only about one gallon of water per horse power is required to cool the cylinder. The victoria shown in our engraving has attached to it one 1/2 horse power cylinder engine. It has a maximum speed of twenty miles an hour and can be regulated down as low as required. The entire vehicle with its machinery weighs less than four hundred pounds. The consumption of fuel is 1/2 gallon of oil per horse power for four hours run.

Grateful Women Write Us Letters.

From every corner of the country come thankful letters written by those who have been filled into cheerful, vigorous, healthy strength by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Thousands on thousands of women have been relieved of the nerve-racking drag of weakness and pain.

They have been made better wives and better mothers by having perfect health restored, and without the humiliating exposure of examinations so generally insisted on by physicians.

The stereotyped treatment by "local applications" is seldom necessary, and there is no reason why modest, sensitive women need submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is of purely vegetable composition and is perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. It exerts a wonderful soothing, healing and strengthening power over woman's delicate organism. It is an invigorating tonic for the whole system, and is almost an infallible specific for the peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and painful derangements of women.

To these causes may be traced the trouble of tired, nervous, irritable, worn-out women. Careless, easy-going doctors frequently treat their women patients for biliousness, nervousness, dyspepsia, liver or kidney troubles, when the real sickness is in the organs distinctly feminine, and no help can come till they are made perfectly strong and healthy in both structure and function which is brought about in due time, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Prescribed for 30 years by Dr. Pierce.
